The LONG ISLAND AUTO REPLICASOCIETY (L.I.A.R.S.) Model Car Briefs is dedicated to bringing you the best and most up to date information about our great hobby of model building.

Were in our 34th year as a Club; let's hope we all stay healthy during this post COVID-19 crisis and that we can all attain some measure of prosperity. Then perhaps we can build a new Club display in memory of Rich Argus...

From our LIARS Unofficial Official

Well, I'm going to have to make this short and sweet. It's been a very, very busy past few weeks. NNL East came and went. It was a great show! As always! Took a lot of pictures and talked to a lot of good friends!

And then my daughter's wedding! What a wonderful time! She was beautiful! Her new husband is fantastic! I couldn't have asked for better for her.

At the last meeting, we did discuss the NNL coming up and if people wanted to get together and carpool. I noticed quite a few people did. Should we have even more people willing to take a single LIARS bus for next year's 2027 NNL, this idea will likely be brought up again to have in stone.

So far, we've handed out some Monte Carlos for the club builds display at our November show. I do have several more if anybody is interested in picking one up at the next meeting.

Leadership fronts the bill for these kits. The only requirement for those participating with the Monte build off is a "guarantee" that you will build and complete it on time for the November show display.

Pick-up trucks is this month's theme, I think I have one or two. So bring them on down, and don't forget a canned good for the pantry.

If you have an idea or suggestion to make, please inform our committee during meetings or contact our board members via their phones and/or emails. If there are any issues at the meetings or regarding other club matters, please inform us and we will handle them to the best of our extent.

Also, please try to bring a canned good to donate for the center. We've all been guilty for being sporadic about this, but let's think about those who are much less fortunate than us.

That's it for now! Thank you again to everybody! My schedule has been hectic; I could not have done this without you all! See you there!

Your unofficial official,

Dominick "McMonte" Gerace,

Remember those folks who made a difference in your life in 2025 (good or bad) and use the lessons learned to be a better you. Life is made up of people, events and decisions. 2026 is a time to start fresh. So surround yourself with good people, be active, happy and make remainder of 2026 great. Richie.

Some Words from the Editor At Large

Welp, Well, I'm going to have to make this somewhat short and sweet, while addressing some main points, and a frustrating eBay battle that did not end well with lessons to give out!

NNL East was a blast, as usual! Hopped along with the Seagraves Bros and Dave Vehrs joined us in the trek for models and stuff. It was a great show! Had nothing ready or accessible to bring for display, but grabbed some smoking deals that the worst eBayers would charge 2-5x more on (and use shipping scams to pocket the rest.. forshadowing). It was a great time! Unfortunately, I was unable to get pics as my phone did a silent OS update that kept getting stuck due to bad connections and drained half my battery! Have to rely once again for pics and coverage from outsiders, thanks to Jim Green, Bill Kingsley, and Will Seagraves and Pauline for assistance.

Overheard some people state that NNL 2027 may be the last, or at least the last one at the Wayne PAL Building, as the NJ model club committee only had arrangements with the center prepaid years in advance. It would be a shame if it did end up winding down for good like the former Salt Lake GSL. What happens next, we won't know until anything official comes out.

And lastly, a PSA for a new eBay scam sellers are pulling that's so mind boggling and frustrating, you would assume would be impossible to perform, but here we go.

On May 4th, an eBay seller by the name of Johns67ssrs (based in New Hampshire, member since 2009, 100% positive feedback but no negative reviews AT ALL, Hmmm.....) had good prices on dozens of mint Johan parts, even for the rare ones like 68 AMX bumpers, purchased a set of 69 stock chrome bumpers for 20 bucks, plus a set of the custom 68 AMX bumpers for 20, and a mint 69 AMX body for 30, total 80 with "combined shipping".

First sign of "too good to be true" was that when the seller was asked to combine shipping, he said it was done but the refund back to the card clearly didn't show up. Figured maybe it would take a while to process on the statement, but seller rudely said to settle down and wait, and this was only the tip of the iceberg so to speak.

Seller shipped the combined shipping item, the 2 sets of bumpers and body, in 1 package with 1 tracking number, despite eBay treating the other items in this order as separate. USPS tracking states the package was delivered Friday May 8th at 3 10 pm at front door/steps, no package! Called post office the next day, their computer system says it was delivered as above but they did a backtrack and the package had a delivery address format that was not valid and marked as delivered by mistake. Their system cannot find out where exactly the delivery went, hoops jumped and loops flown through. I then checked 2 addresses that have gotten my other packages mis-delivered to them in the past and they did not have it.

EBay claim was filed, their CS said to wait a week for a resolution from the seller. Seller started acting like a rude SOB, claims no responsibility for lost packages accused me of being a N and a thief. I then left negative feedback on his account, which somehow got removed. Then the Johnny boy seller left cussing feedback on my account which eBay did nothing about! Seller claimed to have combined shipping and send items as 1 package with 1 tracking number. Seller was reported for violating eBay policy, first of CS bullshit: they did nothing and bot emails said "no inappropriate content was found", WHAAAAA!!!!!!???

Second, eBay sided with seller since the so-called "tracking number" says it was delivered despite me proving via texts and screenshots of the conversations with the post office. I cannot pay for something I don't have that is lost so I demand a resolution and filed an appeal for all 3 including the 1 combined number.

So not only can this POS get away with acting like a small child, but eBay's bots and scripted CS determine if a package is marked delivered despite proof of it bot being the case, they automatically side with the decision of the seller and won't let you appeal further!?

This is the scam going around where the shipper puts wrong info on the package and sends it to a random address close to you. Since the tracking number only gives you the city, and not the actual address, the scammer can show a tracking number with a 'delivered' status and eBay won't do shit. Looks like I was a victim of this tracking scam, no matter how many times you appeal and stuff! Welp, out $100 so no more eBay and dealing with thick Indian accented customer service and retarded AI bots THAT DO NOTHING and let sellers get away with acting like shithead scammers!

I did research on this topic and it's a widespread thing going around and if you put in a INR claim like I did, eBay will side with the seller no matter how scummy they are since the delivered tracking info goes by ZIP and not address, faults created by people and bots that just dump out BS to finish deadlines. The seller's send something, an envelope or small box with tracking to a different modified address, and uses the Delivered scan to win an Item Not Received (INR) dispute. eBay's automated INR system is not allowed access to anything but the scan information, due to shipping company's privacy policies. Neither can other 3rd party online shopping sites.

One solution to this I hear (but aren't trying now, back to Amazon only!), is NEVER open an INR or item not received claim because eBay will always default to saying it was delivered. The scammers can just show the tracking number stating "delivered" and you automatically lose. ALWAYS open a return and ship back an empty envelope if you have to, the scammers SOB's will always lose. To those who regularly eBay, don't make the same mistakes I did!

In other newz, I have gotten totally, ABSOLUTELY, nothing done due to chaotic schedules and stuff! It's been physical and mental gymnastics for me dealing with driving deliveries, working, dealing with parents, helping move out grandpa's stuff, nephew, and the like!

Other than that, this month's theme is Pickups, so bring 'em on down! I won't have anything sooooo....

If anyone else has something to contribute or whatever, please do and send it over before to the second Saturday of the month!

All I got for this month! See you all Thursday!

BAILON CUSTOM SHOP

This rare snapshot shows Joe Bailon's shop in Hayward, California, taken in late 1952 or early 1953. At first glance, it may look like an ordinary working yard filled with unfinished cars and daily shop activity. But look closely inside the spray booth and something extraordinary appears. Joe Bailon's famous 1941 Chevrolet custom later known as Miss Elegance.

The photograph comes from the Dick Falk Photo Collection and captures a format moment in Northern California custom history. Falk remembered that when he first began working with Bailon, Joe was still operating out of a small garage on Alice Street. "It had cement on the floors, but there was a lot of dirt also," Falk told Kustomrama. "It was an old garage. A one-car garage."

Soon, the operation expanded. Falk recalled arriving one day to find Bailon finishing a paint job on a black 1940 Chevrolet sedan. After rubbing the paint out with cornstarch, Joe cleaned up the shop and announced it was time to begin sectioning Falk's own 1947 convertible. The photo shows Falk's '47 parked out front of Bailon's newly extended shop. Nearby sits Hank Vincent's 1932 coupe awaiting rear fender work, while another channeled roadster waits its turn.

Inside the booth, Miss Elegance represents the breakthrough moment that placed Bailon among the leaders of the custom car movement. The car would go on to win major honors and establish the reputation of the man who would later become known as "Candy Apple Joe."

This single photograph quietly captures the birthplace of a legend, a small shop where ideas, craftsmanship, and ambition were already reshaping the future of custom cars.
